

FREE PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT FOR CALIFORNIA EDUCATORS

TOOLS FOR BUILDING INCLUSIVE SCHOOL CLIMATE AND COMMUNITY:

A partnership of the Museum of Tolerance and Teaching Tolerance

This institute will focus on cultivating a school climate that supports the goals of anti-bias and social justice education. Participants will learn about the Teaching Tolerance Social Justice Standards and best practices for integrating the standards across school communities, with strategies for responding to every day biased language and stereotypes, facilitating conversations about race and racism and other types of discrimination such as, gender bias, ableism, and religious or anti-LGBTQ persecution. This interactive, dynamic experience set in the Museum of Tolerance and led by experts from Teaching Tolerance, will stretch our understanding of diversity, equity and inclusion work and the application of social justice education goals in our schools.

Participants will leave the Institute with the tools to:

- Identify characteristics of school environments that reflect diversity, equity and justice.
- Outline methods to engage families and communities in meaningful and culturally competent ways.
- Create positive school climates where all children feel welcome.
- Prepare members of your school community to speak up in a timely manner against bias and injustice.
- Set ongoing professional and personal development goals specific to anti-bias and social justice education.

THIS TRAINING IS RELEVANT TO ALL K-12 EDUCATORS, INCLUDING CLASSROOM TEACHERS, COUNSELORS, BEHAVIOR SPECIALISTS, SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGISTS, MENTAL HEALTH PROFESSIONALS, STUDENT SUPPORT SERVICES, PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPERS, FAMILY/COMMUNITY LIAISONS AND ADMINISTRATORS.

ALL SESSIONS QUALIFY FOR (1) GRADUATE LEVEL EXTENSION CREDIT FROM THE UNIVERSITY OF SAN DIEGO
