

2017 - 2018

HOLOCAUST EDUCATION INSTITUTE

ADL
Anti-Defamation League®

Dear Colleague,

The Museum of Tolerance is proud to partner with other local organizations for the 2017-2018 Holocaust Education Institute. This annual Institute is coordinated through the Anti-Defamation League. The session at the Museum of Tolerance will take place on November 13, 2017 and others sessions will take place at the USC Shoah Foundation Institute and at the Los Angeles Museum of the Holocaust. Holocaust Education Institute for teachers consists of museum-based resources, curricula, pedagogical expertise, and dynamic presenters through three full-day sessions. The Holocaust Education Institute brings together the finest resources to teach about the Holocaust from The Anti-Defamation League, the LA Museum of the Holocaust, the Museum of Tolerance, the USC Shoah Foundation and Yad Vashem. To register, please go to: www.adl.org/laholocaustinstitute

$50 Stipend Available!

Educators who attend an entire session may apply for a $50 personal stipend and for their schools to receive up to $150 in substitute teacher reimbursement. Funding is limited; both the stipend and reimbursement are available on a first-come first-served basis. The dates for the sessions are:

Session 1

Teaching about Anti-Semitism with Echoes and Reflections

Friday, October 27, 2017
8:30 am - 3:30 pm

Session 2

Museum of Tolerance

Monday, November 13, 2017
8:30 am - 3:30 pm

Session 3

Los Angeles Museum of the Holocaust

Friday, February 02, 2018
8:30 am - 3:30 pm

What are the goals of the Institute?

- Introduce educators to an expanded pedagogy for teaching the Holocaust
- Teach effective strategies for Holocaust education
- Provide linkage between the Holocaust and a variety of disciplines
- Meet state and Common Core standards
- Create a network with colleagues in the field
- Enable students to explore history through the personal accounts of eyewitnesses

Session Two: The Museum of Tolerance

Monday, November 13, 2017
8:30 am - 3:30 pm

$20 per person to register, which includes meals, materials, and parking.

For High School and Middle School Educators of: English, History, Art, Religion/Ethics, Humanities, Curriculum Directors, and others.

Join us for an experiential, interactive educational program at the Museum of Tolerance, focusing on the history of the Holocaust and its relevance today. Participants will hear personal testimony from a Holocaust Survivor and engage in facilitated discussions. Topics include the history of anti-Semitism, teaching the Holocaust, and Holocaust denial.

A highlight of the day will be the exploration of the Anne Frank exhibit. Breakfast, lunch, and a packet of valuable resource materials are included.