

FIGHTING FOR THE RIGHT TO FIGHT

AFRICAN AMERICAN EXPERIENCES IN WWII

The Museum of Tolerance invites you and a guest to a VIP event celebrating Black History Month and showcasing the exhibit, Fighting for the Right to Fight: African American Experiences in World War II, presented by The National WWII Museum.

With special guest, Mrs. Allene Carter, daughter-in-law of Medal of Honor recipient, Sgt. Edward Carter, and author of Honoring Sergeant Carter: Redeeming a Black World War II Hero's Legacy.

Fighting for the Right to Fight: African American Experiences in World War II shares the personal and group experiences of African American men and women during World War II. The exhibit examines social changes brought about by the events of World War II and connects African Americans' efforts during the war to the burgeoning Civil Rights Movement.
